BFA DEGREE PROJECT GUIDELINES AND REQUIREMENTS

During the last semester of the senior year students are required to enroll in the BFA Degree Project (Art 401) for 6 credits and the Integrated Experience course (Art 402) for 3 credits.

Choosing a Committee
All senior BFA Studio Art majors must select two full-time faculty members to direct their thesis project prior to pre-registration. Chose one person to chair the committee and the second to serve as a member. A faculty member from another college in the Five Colleges may serve as a third committee person. It is not only your RESPONSIBILITY but also your RIGHT to SELECT the membership of your thesis committee. You are encouraged to choose faculty who you believe will best assist you with the successful completion of your degree project. You are not obligated to have a faculty member from your discipline on your committee. It is important to note, however, that faculty participate on thesis committees as a matter of choice and not obligation. You should determine which member of your committee you would like to serve as the chair. The faculty member in question will need to agree, as she/he will understandably have more responsibility for the thesis project than the remaining members of the committee.

Exhibition and Thesis Project
It is not required that you have an exhibition in connection with the final presentation of the Degree Project, however, it is highly recommended. If you are going to exhibit your work you are advised and encouraged to arrange well in advance of your thesis semester a location to exhibit at one of the campus galleries or other public context:

List of On-Campus Galleries
Student Union Gallery
Augusta Savage Gallery
Central Gallery
Hampden Gallery
Incubator at Hampden

Your thesis project should contain enough work to fill the space you are exhibiting in. There is no precise number of pieces required, however, the work should be adequate to display your technical ability and thesis ideas clearly and justify the number of credits you registered for. Visualize the appearance of your exhibition often, including the method of presentation.

Submitting a Project Proposal
1. Download the Title Page and fill it out with your name and the names of your committee members.
2. Create a proposal for your thesis project, attach it to the title page and submit it to your committee members. Upon approval they will sign the title page. Your proposal should include:
   • A statement of intent that clearly articulates what the thesis work will consist of.
   • A description of media and methods that you will employ in completing your work.
   • A brief description of how you are situating your project in relationship to historical and contemporary art practices.
3. Pick up a Departmental Independent Study Contract from SAB 218 and fill it out using Art 401 and the course schedule number 31493. The chair of your committee is responsible for signing this form.
4. Return all paperwork to SAB 218.
Minimum Hours and Meeting Times with Committee Members

Once the committee is formed, it is your responsibility to arrange for the requisite number of meetings with all members. You are required to have at least 7 meetings with your committee as part of your course work for Art 401. The meeting times should be equally spread across the entire semester. Individual faculty members may request more hours and meeting times. Download the Meeting Schedule for your committee members to sign and date each time you meet with them. This is required and is your responsibility to maintain. The BFA Thesis Committee Signature Chart must be turned after the oral examination, along with completed thesis book and documentation to SAB 218.

Thesis Paper

Writing is an integral part of contemporary studio practice. The thesis paper affords an opportunity to write about your work, exploring and situating its art-historical, theoretical, and personal sources and precedents; its form and process; its motivation and its interpretation. Your paper should be submitted in draft form to committee members well in advance of the final weeks of the semester so that they can provide you with feedback. The finished paper (hard copy) should then be given to your committee members one week before the date of your oral examination. Print out two copies of the thesis paper title sheet to bring with you to the oral defense. Make sure all of the information on this sheet is correct, including the spelling of your thesis committee member’s names and the title of your thesis.

The paper should be approximately ten pages in length, double-spaced and must include the following:

• An Introduction
• Sources and precedents to be included in the main body of the text (you can insert images into this section).
• Conclusion
• Technical Information
• Self-Evaluation
• Bibliography

Oral Examination

Mid way through the semester you should schedule the date and time of your orals with your committee members. During the oral examination (approximately 45 minutes in length) you will be asked to "defend" your thesis project and paper by addressing the central ideas and sources of inspiration that motivated the project. There should be a clear correspondence between the work and your words. If the project work and thesis paper are approved (in terms of form and content), you can obtain approval signatures from the committee members on the title page. In some cases there is additional work to be done on the paper and this is not identified until the oral examination. The second member of your committee might defer to the chair to oversee these changes, in which case you can acquire the second member’s signature on the title page. The chair will sign off on the project when the agreed upon changes are made.

The Completed Degree Project book must contain the following. To be submitted to SAB 218 by the last day of Final Exams

• Title page signed by both your committee members
• Thesis Paper
• Exhibition information (include location and dates)
• Photograph of the BFA candidate working on the project
• Documentation of all works associated with the project*
