ASIAN AND ASIAN AMERICAN STUDIES CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

The Asian and Asian American Studies Certificate Program provides students from all majors at the University of Massachusetts Amherst an opportunity to enhance their major course of study with educational experiences exploring Asian cultures and societies and their role in the historical and contemporary worlds, and the experience and contributions of Asian Americans in the United States.

This dynamic program is designed to serve a wide range of students, from business and management majors who hope someday to conduct business in Asia to Asian Americans who wish to explore their histories, cultures, and the relationships of their communities to American society. This certificate can be used as a competitive edge over others who graduate in your specialization.

The program provides a coherent course of study intended to enhance the student's understanding of Asia and/or Asian American studies. Students majoring in any field at the University are eligible for the Certificate, as are students who have been accepted into a special program (e.g. Continuing Education, University Without Walls, Inquiry Program, BDIC, etc.). Students may, with permission from the Certificate Program Directors, complete requirements of the Certificate program by taking suitable courses at the four other colleges of the Five-College community, or by taking suitable courses while on study abroad in Asia. Upon approval by one of the Co-Directors, students may be able to count two courses taken abroad toward the 22-credit requirement.

The Certificate Program has two options: an Asian Studies option which focuses on studies of East, South and Southeast Asia, and an Asian American Studies option which emphasizes Asian American histories, cultures, and politics.
