NCATE
Standard 5: Field Experience and Clinical Practice

Modeling Best Professional Practices in Service

UNACCEPTABLE

Few professional education faculty are actively involved in service activities for the college or university. Faculty are providing limited or no services to schools at a level expected by the profession. Few if any of the faculty are actively engaged in professional associations or provide education-related services at the local, state, national, or international levels.

ACCEPTABLE

Professional education faculty provide services to the college or university, school and broader communities in ways that are consistent with the institution and unit’s mission. They are actively involved with the professional world of practice in P-12 schools. They are actively involved in professional associations. They provide education-related services at the local, state, national, or international levels.

TARGET

Professional education faculty are actively engaged in dialogues about the design and delivery of instructional programs in both professional education and P-12 schools. They work in schools with colleagues. They provide leadership in the profession, schools, and professional associations at state, national, and international levels.

Collaboration

UNACCEPTABLE

Collaboration between professional education faculty and faculty in other college or university units does not exist or is very limited. Collaboration between professional education faculty and school colleagues is limited to supervision of field experiences and student teaching.

ACCEPTABLE

Professional education faculty collaborate regularly and systematically with colleagues in P–12 settings, faculty in other college or university units, and members of the broader professional community to improve teaching, candidate learning, and the preparation of educators.

TARGET

Faculty are actively engaged as a community of learners regarding the conceptual framework(s) and scholarship of the classroom. They develop relationships, programs, and projects with colleagues in P–12 schools and faculty in other units of the institution to develop and refine knowledge bases, conduct research, make presentations, publish materials, and improve the quality of education for all students.

FORMATION OF DISSERTATION COMMITTEE

ITSUKO JAMIE UDABA  Proposed Dissertation Title: "Cross-Age Peer Tutoring in Dialogic Reading: Effects on the Language Development of Young Children." Statement of the Problem: There are certain ways of reading to young children that are more effective than others. Dialogic reading is a way to read with children that has been shown to have positive effects on a young child's early literacy and language skills. Thus far, parents and teachers have implemented these techniques in the home and the school in one-on-one or small group settings but the implementation of this method has been inconsistent. In order to combat some of these problems, these techniques can be delivered by older students in a cross-age tutoring format.

Chiarperson: Dr. Gary Stoner.

PELE LOPE J. MAHONEY  Proposed Dissertation Title: "Five Case Studies Investigating Children's Responses to the Application of Movement Into the Classroom Curriculum." Statement of the Problem: Too often, the application of movement in the classroom curriculum stops after kindergarten. While the research supports movement beyond kindergarten, the practice in the classroom indicates that it is not widespread beyond kindergarten.

Chairperson: Dr. Masha K. Rudman.

ENGLISH FOR SPECIFIC PURPOSES (ESP) INSTITUTE

The Indiana Center for Intercultural Communication (ICIC) in the I.U. School of Liberal Arts at Indiana University-Purdue University (IUPUI) is pleased to offer the Eighth Annual English for Specific Purposes (ESP) Institute on July 9-20, 2007.

Coordinated by Dr. Ulla Connor, courses taught by Dr. Ulla Connor and Dr. William Rozycki.

What is the ESP Institute?

An intensive, two-week institute to introduce ESL practitioners and English language educators to English for Specific Purposes.

Two courses, offered through IUPUI meet for two weeks:

Linguistics T600: Issues in ESP (3 credit hours), M-F

This course will provide learners with the historical and theoretical background of ESP, especially ESP in the U.S. Theories and models for teaching ESP will be evaluated.

English G541: Materials Development for TESOL (4 credit hours), M-F

This course looks at needs analysis and the creating/adapting of ESL teaching materials for use in specific settings.

Workshops by visiting ESP researchers/practitioners, guest speakers from Indiana companies addressing workplace issues, presentations by ESL professionals.

For whom is the ESP Institute designed?

• Individuals currently involved in English for academic or professional purposes
• Teachers of English as a second language (ESL) or as a foreign language who wish to acquire skills for teaching ESP in the workplace

What are the benefits of completing the ESP Institute?

• Acquisition of the skills and knowledge base to set up a basic ESP program (needs analysis, syllabus and course design, materials development, program implementation, evaluation)
• Accessibility to ICIC staff and resources on future language training issues
• Opportunity to continue studies toward a 21-credit
hour certificate in TESL with emphasis on ESP

• Insight into an innovative teaching approach

How do I register?

IUPUI/IU students can register via the internet at: https://onestart.iu.edu/my-prd/Portal.do or (317) 274-1501

Non-IUPUI/IU students should contact the Graduate Non-Degree Program at: http://www.iupui.edu/~resgrad or (317) 274-1577

Those wishing to take this for no university credit should contact ICIC directly ($1,000 for both courses, $600 for either T600 or G541 individually)

For more information, please contact: ICIC at (317) 274-2555, icic@iupui.edu, www.iupui.edu/~icic.

Information for international participants: For non-credit registration we believe that a tourist visa accommodates this activity. For credit options, internationals would need J-1 visas.

THE NEW BOSTON CHILDREN'S MUSEUM'S SUMMER PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT!

The NEW Museum is now open and we are pleased to announce an exciting new round of professional development in culture and literacy; science; and after schools. We hope to see you this summer!

Multicultural Oral Traditions, Storytelling & Literacy

Join the cultural staff of Boston Children's Museum for an institute on Multicultural Oral Traditions, Storytelling, & Literacy. Work with storytellers and oral historians from four cultures-Native American/Wampanoag, African-American, Chinese and Japanese. Learn hands-on, art and language activities connected to each culture's oral traditions, and discover unique, local resources appropriate for each culture. Classroom strategies and implementation will be highlighted.

This seminar is presented in a series starting in the summer and culminating in the fall.

Learning activities align with Massachusetts Curriculum Frameworks in English Language Arts (Language, Reading and Literature, Composition Strands), History and Social Studies, and Arts. Institute content is designed for K-12 classrooms, including Inclusion, Special Education, “Education gives a person strength, and a warm heart lets a person use all their knowledge for the best.

Individual compassion is the key to sustaining peace of mind and peace throughout the world. Education can guide, but the heart must lead. Worldwide we need to apply more attention to education and teach the importance of a warm heart from kindergarten through university.”
