One upper-level elective at a 300 or higher level:
One upper-level elective at a 400 or higher level:
Junior Year Writing (English 300):
Integrative Experience:

Important notes:

Majors must earn a C or higher in all requirements.

Please refer to our “courses by requirements” online (<http://www.umass.edu/english/fall-2017-courses-requirement>) to see the courses we offer each semester that fulfill these requirements.

A maximum of three transfer courses (ie transfer and five college courses) may count toward the major. You should pre-approve these courses before taking them and can do so at the English undergraduate office. A student may count one course toward two requirements but then will have to take one extra 300+ elective and notify the English undergraduate office that they are doing so.

Second majors are only required to complete junior year writing and the integrative experience requirements in their primary major. The college requirements remain in effect.

Dual degree candidates must take English 300 junior year writing but are waived from the Integrative Experience if English is their second major.
