Legal Consciousness in Comparative Perspective

1. Both groups that Musheno studies are marginalized, but they differ in important ways. How are these two groups different and similar to each other?
2. How do these groups view and engage with social service agencies? How do the social service workers approach each group's problems?
3. What are the limitations of the services available to IDUs?
4. Explain the differences and similarities in the two groups' legal consciousness. What does this article suggest about a collective American legal consciousness?
