Please join us for Dr. Humphrey’s symposia. Refreshments will be served.

Bullying of children and young people with autism spectrum conditions: What do we know and how can we help?

Tuesday/October 27th 4 pm/ Furcolo W014

DR. NEIL HUMPHREY UNIVERSITY OF MANCHESTER, ENGLAND

Neil Humphrey is Professor of Psychology of Education and Research Director at the Manchester Institute of Education, University of Manchester, UK. His research interests include: social and emotional learning, mental health, and special educational needs, particularly autism spectrum conditions. Neil's research has been funded by the National Institute for Health Research, the Economic and Social Research Council, the Department for Education and others. His recent book, Social and Emotional Learning: A Critical Appraisal was described as "a landmark for the field" by Professor Roger Weissberg (CASEL and University of Illinois at Chicago).