Summer Internship
Boston Children’s Hospital

The Pediatric Physicians’ Organization at Children’s (PPOC) is currently seeking candidates for a paid summer internship. The summer interns will work with members from the organization’s Quality Improvement Program in areas related to process improvement, patient centered medical home, integrated behavioral health, and patient safety. The intern will work closely with a mentor and gain first-hand knowledge of how education in the classroom is translated and implemented in the field. Key areas of development will include process improvement, organizational strategy, and operations management.

The internship is 10 weeks, 40 hours per week, and a great opportunity to work on meaningful projects. The internship will be based out of PPOC’s Northampton offices, however travel to and from practices in the Massachusetts area may be required.

Background:

The PPOC is made up of more than 400 physicians, nurse practitioners and physician assistants devoted exclusively to pediatric primary care, in close collaboration with sub-specialists at Boston Children’s Hospital. Our member practices are based in approximately 90 locations throughout Massachusetts and collectively we care for more than 400,000 children and adolescents throughout the state. The mission of the PPOC is to enhance our member pediatrician’s ability to deliver the highest quality of care to children and to improve professional satisfaction and operational effectiveness of our members.
