Welcome to Scotland, Glasgow and Glasgow Caledonian University. We are delighted that you have chosen to come here to complete a course of study in Economic Equality and Social Justice issues. Over the next three weeks you will take part in an exciting and packed programme of study which will include lectures, seminars and field trips. A group of highly qualified professionals will deliver a programme which will keep you engaged and make your learning experience.

For many of you, this will be your first visit to Scotland. You have arrived into a country steeped in rich heritage and cultural tradition. In this programme you will experience some of the vast cultural wealth the country has to offer such as a tour of Edinburgh, Stirling Castle, the Burrell Collection and Falkirk. It will also include an overnight visit to the World Heritage site of New Lanark - the utopian socialist centre created by Robert Owen.

Glasgow has much to offer in the arts, music, dance and nightlife. It is a vibrant city and you will have plenty of activities to choose from during your time here. The way of life here can be very different to where you live and the idea is to absorb the culture and enjoy it.

Some form of International experience is becoming an important requirement of University education. What you will accomplish here in Glasgow Caledonian University will be educationally rewarding, interesting and something you will be able to draw on in any future career plans.

I wish you a pleasant stay.

Credits

Students participating in the program will be required to complete preparatory readings and to write a final paper to be submitted after their return to the United States. There will also be an end of course assessment in Glasgow. After satisfactory completion of all requirements, student will be awarded 6 credits toward the UMASS degree. For STPEC students, the programme will further satisfy 2 of the major’s 5 upper-level requirements (specifically, the requirement in Modern Social Theory and Social Movements and the requirement in Political Economy).

Cost

Because this summer programme generates 6 credits, financial aid will carry over. For students on financial aid, your usual financial aid package will be applied automatically. There are also scholarships available through the UMass International Program Office and through the College of Social and Behavioural Sciences (and for students in other majors, perhaps also from your College) – please apply for these!

The fees for the programme are as follows. Please note that these fees do not include airfare, which you can expect to be around $800-$900 roundtrip from Boston.

£2,350 (approx. $3,300) which covers tuition, self-catering accommodation with free wifi at Buchanan View (www.unite-students.com/glasgow/buchanan-view), airport transfers, the social and cultural programme and associated transportation.

$250 UMass education abroad fee.

Application

To apply, please contact the UMass International Programs Office at 413-545-2710 or abroad@ipo.umass.edu. The website for IPO is www.umass.edu/ipo.

In the very heart of Glasgow stands one of the city’s most important and prestigious buildings - the City Chambers. A grand and imposing edifice overlooking George Square, the City Chambers is an impressive symbol of Glasgow’s political strength and historical wealth. Completed in 1888, the City Chambers has for over a hundred years been the headquarters of successive councils serving the City of Glasgow.
