

STAGE MANAGEMENT

TH 397I

Class is now being offered this Spring!

WHEN: Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 - 11:15 am

WHERE: FAC 201

WHO: JULIE FIFE, Instructor

WHAT:

Learn about the art and craft of stage management! Methods for guiding productions through the five phases of production: pre-production, rehearsal, technical, performance and post-production will be discussed, observed and practiced.

Stage Management is a contact sport! In addition to classroom exploration, students will be actively engaged in stage management for the Shakespeare Festival (performing May 3) and some department productions.

HOW: See Julie Fife in FAC 104 for more information and registration. (Theater Majors may register through SPIRE, but come see me anyway!)

WHY: It's interesting, a great skill and fun!
