UMassAmherst
Translation Center

Interdepartmental Program in Film Studies
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST

The Translation Center in collaboration with Film Studies presents

A conversation on the award-winning film Un traductor (dir. Rodrigo and Sebastián Barriuso González-Mora, 2018) with Professors Esther Allen, Enrique García, and José Manuel Prieto in celebration of International Translation Day 2020

Wednesday, September 30 at 7:00 pm

To participate:

1) Register starting 9/23 to get the link to the Zoom event.

2) View film on:

- UMass login: https://umass.kanopy.com/product/un-traductor
- Rent on Amazon for $1.99 https://www.amazon.com/Traductor-Rodrigo-Santoro/dp/B07JYQHQTP
- Direct TV: https://www.directv.com/movies/Un-traductor-Uzg1dllSL0o3blJkN1lNMU9FTjBJdz09
- Hulu and a few other services

3) Submit a question to be answered by our guest speakers during the live event.

contact Aitor Bouso Gavín at abousogavin@umass.edu or 774-253-3882

Dr. Esther Allen is a writer, translator and Professor at Baruch College of City University of New York. Her research focuses on translation, 19th and 20th century Latin American literature, and issues in anglophone globalization. She is Director of Baruch's Sidney Harman Writer-in-Residence Program.

Dr. Enrique García is Associate Professor of Hispanic Visual Culture at Middlebury College. He holds a PhD in Comparative Literature from UMass Amherst. His work focuses on international Hispanic/Latinx genre cinema and comic books.

Dr. José Manuel Prieto is a writer, translator, and Associate Professor at Seton Hall University. He is the author of several novels, non-fiction books, articles and essays, and he is also a translator of Russian literature into Spanish.

Organized by Aitor Bouso Gavín in collaboration with Professors Regina Galasso and Barbara Zecchi.