ASIAN AND ASIAN AMERICAN STUDIES CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

The Asian and Asian American Studies Certificate Program provides students from all majors at the University of Massachusetts Amherst an opportunity to enhance their major course of study with a secondary focus on courses exploring Asian cultures/societies, their role in the historical and contemporary worlds, and the experience and contributions of Asian Americans in the United States. This is similar to a minor.

This dynamic program is designed to serve a wide range of students. For example, if you are a Business/Management or Engineering/Computer Science major hoping to get a job in a corporation doing business with Asia you can benefit enormously from learning more about Asian societies or about the history and politics of Asian Americans in the U.S. Perhaps your major is Sociology or Art, and you are an Asian American who wants to explore your family's culture/history and the relationship with U.S. history and society. This certificate can give you deeper understanding of these cultural relationships as well as a competitive edge over others who graduate in the same major.* If you participate in a study abroad program in Asia you will have an additional competitive edge over other students due to your intercultural experience and your increased ability to analyze Asian societies and mainstream U.S. society.

The Certificate requires participation in two Core courses and additional courses in a variety of departments to reach the 22 credit requirement. The faculty director of the Certificate Program must approve the additional courses (including courses taken while on study abroad in Asia or at the other colleges in the area) as counting towards the Certificate. Students majoring in any field at the University are eligible for the Certificate, as are students who have been accepted into a special program (e.g. Continuing Education, Inquiry Program, BDIC, etc.). Regarding study abroad courses, students can request the Faculty Director's approval for a maximum of two courses taken abroad to be counted towards the 22-credit requirement.

The Certificate Program has two focus options: 1) an Asian Studies option which focuses on studies of East, South and Southeast Asia; and 2) an Asian American Studies option which emphasizes Asian American cultures, histories, and politics.
