

UMASS CRANBERRY STATION

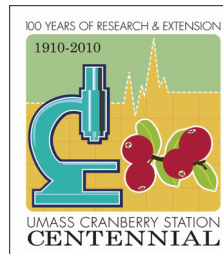

CENTENNIAL

100 Years of Research & Extension

The Cranberry Station 100 Year Endowment will help Station faculty and staff to continue their work in partnership with Massachusetts cranberry growers. Endowment funds will be used to: (1) Purchase and outfit a vehicle designed to be used in field diagnostics and research, and (2) Provide interest income to maintain the vehicle and support its use in the bogs.

Designed as a "traveling laboratory" with sampling tools, an onboard computer, cameras, and research supplies, the vehicle will help the Station continue its long tradition of excellence in research and outreach.

In 1909, growers contributed a penny on every barrel of their crop to support the cranberry research program of the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station, thereby helping to ensure the establishment of the UMass Cranberry Station. Please join us and make a contribution today to ensure that cranberry research and extension continues for another 100 years.
