Externship Policy and Procedures
University of Massachusetts Amherst

The Campus recognizes that enriching and beneficial learning and training opportunities can be found in working environments external to the campus. These off-campus internships, referred to as externships, are designed to significantly enhance the academic and professional goals of the student and are defined as training and learning experiences that are substantially relevant to the student’s academic goals and directly augment their programmatic studies.

The campus and the Department of Higher Education (DHE) acknowledge the importance of externships by granting tuition credit to graduate students who are in approved externship positions. As specified below, employment verification and academic approval procedures are required in order for externship tuition credit to be granted.

Definitions and Limits:

- Externships are training and learning experiences that are substantially relevant to the student’s academic goals and directly augment their programmatic studies.
- Externships must be specifically designed for students and are not regular staff positions. Externships are not meant to be a continuation of employment for students who were previously employed in a regular staff position. Only in rare and compelling circumstances will exceptions be made. A letter addressing such circumstances must be submitted to the Dean of the Graduate School for review and decision.
- Externships must be worked and paid during the semester in which the tuition credit is granted. The only exception is during the summer – see below for further explanation.
- The stipend paid for externships must meet the campus minimum threshold for tuition credit in any given semester.
- Externship positions are not in the GEO bargaining unit and do not qualify for any bargaining unit benefits such as health fee exemptions, dental, and parking benefits.
- Graduate students employed by Amherst College, Hampshire College, Mount Holyoke College, or Smith College in professional, academically related positions must be in assistantship positions through the Five-College Appointment process and are not externships.
- Master’s degree students may have a maximum of four (4) semesters of externship tuition credit.
- Doctoral students may have a maximum of six (6) semesters of externship tuition credit. The number of semesters of externship tuition credit received while a master’s student will count towards the maximum of six (6) semesters except when the doctoral degree is in a different department or program than that of the master’s degree.
- Summer externships must be pre-approved prior to the summer, are only allowed when seasonal issues require summer work, and will be included in the maximum number of semesters allowed for a graduate degree.
• Only in rare and compelling circumstances will additional semesters of externship tuition credit be granted. A letter addressing such circumstances and requesting an additional semester must be submitted to the Dean of the Graduate School for review and decision.
• Tuition credit is not applied to Continuing and Professional Education course fees. Such fees cannot be credited under DHE policy.
• Circumstances exist in which externships will be denied on the basis of conflict of interest. The following are some examples of circumstances where conflicts of interest arise: the student’s department head, graduate program director, academic advisor, or committee member is also an employee of the external agency hiring the graduate student; at the work site, the student is directly supervised by an individual who is also an employee of the University; a member of the student’s immediate family (parents, children, siblings, spouse, and spouse’s parents, children, and siblings) is an employee of the external agency hiring the graduate student.
• The Dean of the Graduate School has final authority for granting externships and externship tuition credit.
