State Housing Policies:
The Emergence of a New “new” Federalism?

Victoria Basolo, Ph.D., AICP, is an Associate Professor in the Department of Planning, Policy, and Design at the University of California, Irvine (UCI) and affiliated faculty for the Program in Demographic and Social Analysis. Her research interests include housing and economic development policy, intergovernmental relations, urban politics, public choice theory, institutional theory, disaster preparedness, and regionalism. Her work has been funded by the National Science Foundation, California Policy Research Center, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the National Center for the Revitalization of Central Cities, as well as local governments and nonprofit organizations.