Environmental and Natural Resource Economics Assistant Professor Position

Department of Resource Economics
College of Social and Behavioral Sciences
University of Massachusetts Amherst

Job Description

The Department of Resource Economics invites applications for a tenure-track assistant professor with a research focus in environmental and natural resource economics to start September 2017. Candidates from all sub-disciplines of environmental and natural resource economics will be considered and are encouraged to apply. Under exceptional circumstances, highly qualified candidates at other ranks may receive consideration. Teaching responsibilities will include, but will not be limited to, Department graduate and undergraduate courses in environmental and natural resource economics.

Requirements

Applicants are required to have a Ph.D. in agricultural/resource/applied economics, economics, or a related field as of September 1, 2017.

Additional Information

The Department of Resource Economics has 14 faculty, 300 undergraduate majors, and about 25 graduate students (one-half are Ph.D. candidates). We place special emphasis on high quality research, on faculty-student interaction, and on cooperation among faculty. We share a fundamental commitment to teach and attract a diverse student body.

Application Instructions

To apply, submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, graduate transcript, and writing samples online at <http://umass.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=75928>. Please arrange to have 3 letters of recommendation sent directly to EnvEconSearch@resecon.umass.edu.

Review of applications will begin November 4, 2016. The search will continue until the position is filled. We will be conducting preliminary interviews of candidates at the American Economic Association annual meeting in January 2017. Inquiries may be directed to EnvEconSearch@resecon.umass.edu.

The University is part of the 5-College Consortium in the beautiful Pioneer Valley of Western Massachusetts, with excellent social, cultural, and recreational amenities in a town and rural setting. We are 2 hours from Boston and 3 hours from New York City.

The university is committed to active recruitment of a diverse faculty and student body. The University of Massachusetts Amherst is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer of women, minorities, protected veterans, and individuals with disabilities and encourages applications from these and other protected group members. Because broad diversity is essential to an inclusive climate and critical to the University's goals of achieving excellence in all areas, we will holistically assess the many qualifications of each applicant and favorably consider an individual's record working with students and colleagues with broadly diverse perspectives, experiences, and backgrounds in educational, research or other work activities. We will also favorably consider experience overcoming or helping others overcome barriers to an academic degree and career.
