HEADLINERS

UMass Amherst Retired Faculty Association Meeting Nov. 10

The November Retired Faculty Association meeting will be held as a hybrid meeting on Friday, Nov. 12, from noon to 2 p.m. The meeting will be open to all retired faculty members and will include updates on the state of the University, opportunities for professional development, and a chance to network with colleagues.

Juniper Institute for Young Writers Announces Winter Workshops in Creative Writing

The Juniper Institute for Young Writers is currently accepting applications for its Winter Workshops in Creative Writing. The workshops will take place on Fridays from Jan. 8 to Feb. 19, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Bromery Center for the Arts. Presented by the department of English and literature in collaboration with the Department of Music and musicology, the workshops are open to all young writers looking to improve their creative writing skills.

The Graduate School Announces New Dissertation Completion Fellowship

The Graduate School has announced a new fellowship program for Ph.D. applicants to help them complete their dissertations. The fellowship will provide financial support and mentorship opportunities to help Ph.D. candidates succeed in their graduate studies. Applications for the fellowship will be accepted until Dec. 15.

Next Inside UMass Newsletter Scheduled for Friday, Nov. 12

The Next Inside UMass newsletter is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 12. The newsletter will feature updates on the latest campus news, events, and initiatives. Subscribers can sign up to receive the newsletter via email or on the Inside UMass website.

Krauthamer's 'Black Slaves, Indian Masters,' Named Book of the Month in Rapper Inclusion of Doula Expertise

Barbara Krauthamer, dean of the College of Humanities and Fine Arts and professor of history, was recently appointed by Gov. Charlie Baker to serve on the Board of Directors for the Massachusetts Commission for the Humanities. Krauthamer's recent book, "Black Slaves, Indian Masters," has been named the book of the month in Rapper Inclusion of Doula Expertise.

Professor Emerita Sonia Nieto Receives Governor's Award in the Humanities

Professor emerita Sonia Nieto, education, received the Governor's Award in the Humanities on Oct. 24. Nieto was honored for her contributions to the humanities and her commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion in education.

Barbara Zecchi Serves as Keynote at Three International Conferences This Fall

Barbara Zecchi, Spanish and Portuguese studies, is keynote speaker at three international conferences this fall. Zecchi will present her research on language acquisition and teaching methods at conferences in Spain, Portugal, and France. Her work focuses on language education and the role of technology in the classroom.

Mike Pease to present at Harvard Medical Conference

Mike Pease, a health promotion specialist in the Center for Health Promotion and Policy, will be presenting at the Harvard Medical Conference on Participant Engagement and Ethical Digital Storytelling: The MOCHA Outreach Model. Pease's research focuses on public health and community engagement.

From Muons to Antimatter: Two UMass Physics Grad Students Among Winners of New Day Films

Two UMass Amherst physicists-in-training: David Kessler and Tristan Kawall. are two UMass Amherst physicists-in-training: David Kessler and Tristan Kawall. are two UMass Amherst physicists-in-training: David Kessler and Tristan Kawall. are two UMass Amherst physicists-in-training: David Kessler and Tristan Kawall. are winners of the New Day Films Festival. The Festival, from Muons to Antimatter, will take place on Nov. 4 and will showcase the work of young film makers.

U.S. News & World Report Global Subject Rankings Place UMass Amherst Food Science and Business in Top 15

UMass Amherst has been ranked in the top 15 for food science and business in the U.S. News & World Report Global Subject Rankings. The rankings are based on a variety of factors, including research output, reputation, and citations.

Nearly three-quarters of the total number of gambling harms in Massachusetts reported by Massachusetts Municipalities

Nearly three-quarters of the total number of gambling harms in Massachusetts reported by Massachusetts Municipalities. A new report published today by a team of 20 researchers representing various institutions found that nearly seven in 10 towns and cities in Massachusetts have reported gambling harms in the past year.

University of Massachusetts Amherst

Subscribe to Inside UMass on Facebook and Twitter for breaking news, events, and features. Also follow the Office of Faculty Development on Facebook at https://www.facebook.com/officeoffacultydevelopment.