Community Engagement

Much of my community engagement over the past five years has been providing resources for and teaching a wide variety of labor, environmental, and community activists the technique and principles of strategic corporate research and campaigns. In 2013, I developed the first comprehensive website for conducting corporate research in both Canada and the United States (<http://strategiccorporateresearch.org>). The website is currently being expanded with resources being added for firms based in the United Kingdom, and well as the translation of some of the basic materials in French, Spanish, and Chinese. Some recent workshops and presentation include:

Strategic Corporate Research Workshop, Harvard Trade Union Program, 2002-2020

Strategic Corporate Research Workshop, Trades Union Congress(TUC), Harvard University, February 10, 2107,
