Plants, Pollinators & People

~The importance of attracting pollinators, keeping them happy and healthy in today's rapidly changing world. ~

With Christopher Phillips, Morrill Greenhouse Manager

Chris has been managing the Morrill Greenhouses here at UMass since 2016, caring for the NHC's Living Plant Collection.

Your involvement and commitment to this organization is what makes it thrive and continue to positively impact other University Women staff through the networking that we do and support we give one another.

You won't want to miss this one!

Luncheon Menu: Buffet Lunch. There will be something for everyone.

Established in 1981 the University Women's Network (UWN) is a longstanding independent, self-sustaining, organization on the UMass Amherst campus that dedicates itself to promoting the personal and professional development of its members. UWN achieves this by networking, educating, supporting its members, and collaborating with other campus organizations throughout the state.

A UWN membership affords you networking opportunities, discounted lunches, and other benefits such as special events and voting privileges. You'll meet and make new friends and lend your support to a dynamic group of like-minded, women staff on campus who are also trying to make a difference. See the difference your support can make. Join today!
