

Stacie Nicole Smith is Senior Associate at the Consensus Building Institute, where she is a mediator, facilitator, coach, and trainer. Stacie conducts trainings and designs and facilitates public processes in a wide range of settings and contexts, both domestically and internationally. Her work includes curriculum development and training, facilitation of multi-sector community and national stakeholder dialogues and collaborations, and assessment and mediation of national public policy issues.

CBI is a co-developer and trainer of Facilitating Wind Energy Siting Workshop, a three-day workshop presented in March 2011 focused on developing the capacity to collaborate effectively on wind development policy, facility siting, and related issues including aesthetics; noise; wildlife; economics; transmission, and more. Since January, Stacie has worked as the assessor and facilitator of a collaborative process in Falmouth MA, to explore of the range of options for the long- term future of the Town's two Wind Turbines.